

Hello! Before I even noticed it, it was already May! Spring is slowly, but indeed peeking in Massachusetts, too. I am so happy when I can wear a T-shirt to school on a sunny day. During April, I got to experience attending a prom.

【High school Prom】

Prom is a formal dance party for graduating high school students at the end of the school year. Normally, only juniors and seniors attend prom, but since one of my junior friends asked me out, I was able to go.

There is a lot to do before the prom. The number one priority is to get your dress. Since it is a very formal party, everyone dresses up wearing dresses and suits. Also, it is popular for girls to hold bouquets or corsages. My friend and I got a corsage that matches our dress colors. Moreover, a lot of girls book hair appointments and nail appointments before, so that they are fully ready. That is how much effort on to look nice.

I had so much fun at prom! There was a dance floor in the middle of the area, so me and my friends took off our heels and danced along with the music by the DJ. It felt like I was in a club. Where our prom was held was a stadium, so we were able to watch a soccer game from the very top. I felt like I was VIP!

【April Break】

I had a week off from school around the end of April. This break is basically like a spring break in Japan. I had my track & field practice every single day, so I could not really do stuff, but it was a nice long break. My friend and I made a bouquet with pipe cleaners. We have been seeking opportunities to do this since December, so I was happy to do it. My friend is from India, and her mom served me an Indian food. I tried eating with my right hand for the first time as my friend told me to. Eating curry with a hand was harder than I thought!
